A BILL

To grant the Congressional Gold Medal to the troops from the United States and the Philippines who defended Bataan and Corregidor, in recognition of their personal sacrifice and service during World War II.

1       *Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,*

3       SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as the “Defenders of Bataan 5       and Corregidor Congressional Gold Medal Act”.

1   SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2       Congress finds the following:

3               (1) Hours after the attacks on Pearl Harbor, 4               Hawaii, Imperial Japanese forces launched an at-5               tack on the Philippines, cutting off vital lines of 6               communication to members of the Armed Forces of 7               the United States (referred to in this Act as the 8               “Armed Forces”) and Filipino troops in the Far 9               East under the command of General Douglas Mac-10              Arthur.

11              (2) On December 8, 1941, the 200th and 515th 12              Coast Artillery Regiments, successors to the New 13              Mexico National Guardsmen who made up part of 14              the famed “Rough Riders” of the Spanish-American 15              War, were the “first to fire”.

16              (3) Despite being cut off from supply lines and 17              reinforcements, members of the Armed Forces and 18              Philippine troops quickly executed a plan to delay 19              the Japanese invasion and defend the Philippines 20              against that invasion.

21              (4) Combined U.S.-Filipino ground forces fight
22              a prolonged six-month resistance to Imperial Ja-
23              pan’s invasion of the Philippines. With the U.S. un-24              able to deliver reinforcements, the U.S.-Filipino 25              forces slowly deteriorate in combat effectiveness

1       through lack of food, supplies, ammunition, and dis-
2       ease as well as from no air and naval support.

3                 (5) By December 10, 1941, the U.S. Army Air 4       Corps airfields at Del Carmen, Clark, Nichols, and 5       Nielson on Luzon in the Philippines, as well as the 6       nearby U.S. Naval facilities at Cavite and Olongapo
7       had been destroyed. The surviving sailors, Marines, 8       and airmen were organized into provisional infantry
9       units and sent to fight on the Bataan Peninsula.

10               (6) By April 1942, troops from the United 11       States and the Philippines had bravely and staunch-12       ly fought off enemy attacks in Bataan for more than 13       4 months under strenuous conditions that resulted 14       in widespread starvation and disease.

15               (7) Securing the withdrawal of United States 16       forces on Luzon to the Bataan Peninsula were—

17                         (A) 1,809 New Mexico National Guards-18       men from 200th and 515th Coast Artillery 19       (Antiaircraft) regiments. First stationed at 20       Fort Stotsenberg north of Manila, they are 21       credited as being the “First to Fire” in the de-22       fense of the Philippines on December 8, 1941;

23                         (B) 1,006 National Guardsmen of the 24       192nd GHQ Light Tank Battalion (596) com-
25       posed of Company A from Janesville, Wis-

1           consin; Company B from Maywood, Illinois;
2           Company C from Port Clinton, Ohio; and Com-3           pany D from Harrodsburg, Kentucky; and the 4           194th Light Tank Battalion (410) composed of 5           Company A from Brainerd, Minnesota; Com-
6           pany B from Saint Joseph, Missouri; and Com-
7           pany C from Salinas, California. The 192nd 8           and 194th Tank Battalions had arrived in the 9           Philippines on or before Thanksgiving Day 10          1941; and

11                 (C) barely half of the men from these Na-12                 tional Guard units returned home at the end of 13                 the war, with the majority dying as POWs of 14                 the Imperial Japanese Army.

15                 (8) By maintaining their position and engaging 16                 the enemy for as long as they did, the troops at Ba-17                 taan were able to change the momentum of the war, 18                 delaying the Japanese timetable to take control of 19                 the Southeast Pacific for needed war materials. Be-20                 cause of the heroic actions of the defenders of Ba-21                 taan, members of the Armed Forces and other Allied 22                 forces throughout the Pacific had time to regroup
23                 and prepare for the successful liberation of the Pa-24                 cific and the Philippines.

1                             (9) On April 9, 1942, approximately 12,000
2                             United States military personnel and 66,000 Fili-3                             pino soldiers became POWs with the surrender of 4                             the American-Filipino forces on the Bataan Penin-
5                             sula in the Philippines by Major General Edward P.
6                             King.

7                             (10) Beginning on April 9 and lasting for al-8                             most two weeks, troops from the Armed Forces and 9                             the Philippines were taken prisoner and forced to 10                            march 65 miles without any food, water, or medical 11                            care in what came to be known as the "Bataan 12                            Death March". They marched from Marviveles north 13                            to the San Fernando train station. At San Fer-14                            nando, the men were packed standing in 15                            unventilated boxcars for 24-mile journey by rail to 16                            Capas. Survivors then marched an additional three 17                            miles to the make-shift POW camp at Camp
18                            O'Donnell, an unfinished Philippine Army training 19                            facility.

20                            (11) During this forced march, an estimated 21                            700 American and possibly 10,000 thousand Filipino 22                            soldiers died from starvation, lack of medical care, 23                            sheer exhaustion, or abuse by their captors. Hun-
24                            dreds of men on the Death March remain unac-

1       counted for from the march and its immediate after-2       math.

3                 (12) Conditions at the prisoner of war camps
4        were appalling, leading to increased disease and mal-
5        nutrition, which precipitated extraordinary death 6        rates of as high as 300 per day.

7                 (13) Thousands of troops fought under siege 8        conditions on Corregidor (Fort Mills), a fortress is-9        land in Manila Bay, the headquarters of the wartime
10      U.S. Army Forces in the Far East, and the nearby 11      fortified islands of Fort Hughes, Fort Drum, and 12      Fort Frank until May 6, 1942.

13                 (14) On May 6, 1942, Corregidor, which had 14        become the military command center for all the Phil-
15       ippines, United States Forces in the Philippines
16       (USFIP), was surrendered by Lt. General Jonathan 17       M. Wainwright. Nearly 10,000 American soldiers, 18       sailors, airmen, and Marines as well as over 3,000
19       Filipino soldiers and nurses become POWs of Impe-20       rial Japan.

21                 (15) On June 6, 1942, the prisoners at Camp
22       O'Donnell were transferred to Camp Cabanatuan, 23       north of Camp O'Donnell.

24                 (16) Nearly 26,000 of the 50,000 Filipino pris-
25       oners of war died at Camp O'Donnell and survivors

1       were gradually paroled from September through De-2       cember 1942.

3                     (17) Between September of 1942 and December
4       of 1944, prisoners of war from the Armed Forces 5       who had survived the horrific death march were 6       shipped north for forced labor aboard “hell ships” 7       and succumbed in great numbers because of the 8       abysmal conditions. Many of those ships were mis-9       takenly targeted by Allied naval forces because the 10      Japanese military convoys were not properly labeled 11      as carrying prisoners of war. The sinking of the 12      Arisan Maru alone claimed nearly 1,800 lives of 13      members of the Armed Forces.

14                    (18) The prisoners who remained in the camps
15      suffered from continued mistreatment, malnutrition, 16      lack of medical care, and horrific conditions until 17      they were liberated in 1945.

18                    (19) The veterans of Bataan and Corregidor 19      represented the best of the United States and the 20      Philippines, hailed from various locales across both 21      countries, and represented true diversity.

22                    (20) Over the subsequent decades, the veterans
23      of Bataan and Corregidor formed support groups, 24      were honored in local and State memorials, and told 25      their stories to all people of the United States.

1                         (21) The United States Navy has continued to 2 honor the history and stories of the veterans of Ba-
3 taan by naming 2 ships after the battle, including 1
4 ship that is still in service, the USS Bataan (LHD– 5 5), in memory of their valor and honorable resist-
6 ance against Imperial Japanese forces.

7                         (22) Many of the survivors of Bataan and Cor-8 regidor have died and those who remain continue to 9 tell their stories.

10                        (23) The people of the United States and the 11 Philippines are forever indebted to these men for—12                         (A) the courage and tenacity they dem-
13 onstrated during the first 4 months of World 14 War II fighting against enemy soldiers; and 15                         (B) the perseverance they demonstrated 16 during 3 years of capture, imprisonment, and 17 atrocious conditions, while maintaining dignity, 18 honor, patriotism, and loyalty.

19 SEC. 3. CONGRESSIONAL GOLD MEDAL.

20                       (a) AWARD AUTHORIZED.—The Speaker of the 21 House of Representatives and the President pro tempore 22 of the Senate shall make appropriate arrangements for the 23 collective award, on behalf of Congress, of a gold medal
24 of appropriate design to the troops from the United States
25 and the Philippines who defended Bataan and Corregidor,

1 in recognition of their personal sacrifice and service during 2 World War II.

3 (b) DESIGN AND STRIKING.—For purposes of the 4 award under subsection (a), the Secretary of the Treasury
5 (referred to in this Act as the “Secretary”) shall strike 6 the gold medal with suitable emblems, devices, and in-7 scriptions, to be determined by the Secretary.

8 (c) SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.—

9 (1) IN GENERAL.—Following the award of the 10 gold medal under subsection (a), the gold medal 11 shall be given to the Smithsonian Institution, where 12 it shall be displayed as appropriate and made avail-13 able for research.

14 (2) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of 15 Congress that the Smithsonian Institution should 16 make the gold medal received under paragraph (1) 17 available for display elsewhere, particularly at other 18 appropriate locations that are associated with the 19 troops from the United States and the Philippines
20 who defended Bataan and Corregidor.

21 SEC. 4. DUPLICATE MEDALS.

22 The Secretary may strike and sell duplicates in 23 bronze of the gold medal struck pursuant to section 3 24 under such regulations as the Secretary may prescribe, at 25 a price sufficient to cover the cost thereof, including labor,

1 materials, dies, use of machinery, and overhead expenses,
2 and the cost of the gold medal.

3 SEC. 5. STATUS OF MEDALS.

4 (a) NATIONAL MEDALS.—The medals struck pursu-
5 ant to this Act are national medals for purposes of chapter 6 51 of title 31, United States Code.

7 (b) NUMISMATIC ITEMS.—For purposes of section
8 5134 of title 31, United States Code, all medals struck 9 under this Act shall be considered to be numismatic items.
